In an age of severe water shortage, TV programs are teaching various water-saving methods and encouraging the drinking of watermelon juice in place of water.

However, everyone has his own solutions when it comes to finding water.

Survival is hard but loneliness is even harder to bear. Each of us is like a cloud in the silent sky - always floating alone and never touching each other.

One day, Shiang-Chyi finds a watermelon and later meets Hsiao-Kang in the park. She remembers buying a watch from him before. She has not seen him since then and has no idea what he is now doing at her building.

They fall in love.

When a cloud touches another, what shape will they form?

What is the best of times? It is a moment of euphoria that shall never return again. We do not yearn for it because it was the best time beyond comparison; on the contrary, it is yearned for because we have forever lost it. We could only reminisce it in our memory, and thus it becomes the best of all times beyond comparison.

Three different time periods and three stories evoke a sentimental tale of a three-reincarnation of an unfinished love....

Twenty years ago, millionaire Yang and his families suddenly all disappeared . Nobody knew what had happened that night. The house which was usually so prosperous now became a bleak place.

Twenty years later, distant relative Hsuen inherits the Yang house, moving in with his girlfriend Ling, a dancer who aspires to study in the U.S. To celebrate their engagement, they invite friends to their new home.

Two close buddies- Chen (female) and Tseng (male), sleep over. The next night, Chen and Tseng mysteriously reappear at the house, both seemingly sleepwalking. When Hsuen and Ling wake them up, they can't explain why they returned to the house. At the same time, Detective Wu visits the house for an investigation - including the mysteriously absent fourth floor - and discovers more secrets about the Yang family...

In Shanghai, the air was all romantic and delirious, tinted with the glamour and loneliness of fin de siècle. A touching romance was brewing among the musician San-Lang, dancing girl Yuenfang, and a young woman singer Wubao. It lasted till Wubao's death in war. The turbulence of the time forced the vagrant souls to restart yet another endless quest. Down and out, merged in desolation, the musician encountered Yuenfang again in Taiwan. However, seasons and times changed. A young and pure soul as Juan Juan was undergoing the most unbearable life experience. Her presence represented the reappearance of Wubao. Therefore Yuenfang can temporally place the incomplete love with Wubao on Juan Juan.

It was 1943, when Taiwan was under Japanese colonization, the famed Taiwanese sculptor and painter Ching-Cheng Huang boarded the passenger's liner Takachiho Maru in Kobe, Japan with his girl friend to visit the family and friends back home. Unfortunately, the liner was torpedoed by an American submarine and sunk off the coast of Keelung, Taiwan. More than 1000 lives were claimed. This is the third most disastrous shipwreck in the world and supposed to be an important episode in Taiwanese history. However, instead of remembering the tragedy, any discussion and inquiries about the incident were forbidden by the island's Japanese governor. As a result, the story of Takachiho Maru sunk with the liner and its passengers. Ching-Cheng Huang, who could well be one of the most talented Taiwanese artists, was forgotten as well.

Demon was well known as a Internet novel writer with her popular article series: "Don't Say Goodbye before the Dawn". She quarrelled with the director of Literature Society in the campus, Archer. Archer was the supporter of literature orthodoxy and did not agree with the popularity of the internet novel at all. So Archer always said something bad about Demon. Of course, she could not tolerate his criticism. However she was defeated in school's Literature Award. Therefore, the controversy of one-night-stand and seduction-refusing generate something special. When all the lies and bet were explored, how about the relationship between Archer and Demon? Would the orthodoxy literature give any impact to their romance?

If you had the opportunity to reverse the course of your life, how would you like your story to end?

Do Over follows five characters over twenty-four hours on the last day of the year. As the interrelated stories proceed, the connections between the lives of the five characters begin to reveal themselves and their stories unravel. By depicting five different characters at emotional crossroads, Do Over examines the struggle of overcoming our greatest fears; the unknown of what lies ahead in the future, the fading value of our existence in the present, and most of all, irreversible mistakes made in the past that may catch up to us.

Recorder, Tong-Je Li happened to work in a remote mountain area in central Taiwan among the Bunung tribespeople.

It was Tong-Je's plan to do a special report about the aftermath of the strong earthquake that jolted the central part of Taiwan on Sept. 21st, 1999. However, little by little, he found his ideas changed by the locals. The so-called care, merely based on an outsider's perspective.

Tong-Je was hosted by Pastor Chuan, who adopted a ten-year old boy Quisuel. With his parents lost in the earthquake, Quisuel closed his heart and rejected communication. The kid's mentor, Hui-Zu, a primary school teacher who would add singing of the traditional Bunung songs to the curriculum, tried in vain to open his heart by encouraging him to participate in the singing contest.

Traveling is, and will always be, the best way to find stories.

The story begins when a hearing-impaired college student about to graduate courageously undertakes a round-the-island bike trip. Beginning with a sunrise on the East Coast and ending with a sunset on the West Coast, the trip itself stretches over six days. Also, the story begins and ends at the same town Taima Lee, where the bicyclist welcomes the first sunray of a new day. During his 7-day journey, this young man comes across various people and adventures. With a heart full of hope, he advances with great passion and experiences the beauty of the island and its people. This film intends to take the audience on a coast-to-coast trip, and to present modern realities of Taiwan by combining dramatic and documentary approaches.

Yamano is a young veterinarian with a small clinic in Tokyo. One hot summer day, right before he can leave for his dream vacation in the Maldives, he makes a fatal mistake: he accidentally castrates a champion bull dog named Samurai. Even worse, the owner of the dog is an underworld boss. Yamano realizes he has less than a week to find and switch the dog with its twin sibling before he starts losing his fingers to the mob! Instead of blue sky, white beaches and breezy palm trees, unlucky Yamano faces life trapped in a run-down, pathetic hotel in Taipei.

Spiky is a streetwise girl, raised by the small time gangster Shine. After uncovering that his rival is on a secret mission with Tokyo mob, Shine and his followers decide to strike first - and raid the very hotel where Yamano is staying. Fleeing the surprise attack, Yamano jumps from his hotel window and falls onto the car hood where Spiky is waiting behind the wheel. Their eyes lock...and a crazy journey begins!
